

MA'CLAIM, finest photorealistic graffiti

By Falk Lehmann

Publikat Sep 2006, 2006. Taschenbuch. Condition: Neu. Neuware - Not many graffiti formations can claim having worked their way up on top of a world-wide movement. 'Ma'Claim' can do so, and this book shows us why. The crew from former East Germany has had an international breakthrough which has hardly ever been seen before. With their mix of classical graffiti writing and photorealism, also called 'Graffoto' in the Ma'Claim language, they have already been cause for numerous discussions within the graffiti scene. Meanwhile they got more and more fans and also imitators. But that's not such a bad thing, because 'how could someone say that he likes your pieces more honest' (RUSK) Divided into 15 chapters the book starts off with very personal and detailed portraits of each member, followed by several works and productions of the crew. But this book goes one step further than the usual graffiti publications. 'Ma'Claim - finest photorealistic graffiti' opens up the art of photorealistic spray painting. First, the chapter 'Weimar City' deals with techniques which simplify the production of big walls and pieces. Tricks like the can circle or the usage of a chalk lines are introduced and well explained. The following...
