Knopf Canada, 2014. Book Condition: New. Brand New, Unread Copy in Perfect Condition. A+ Customer Service! Summary: " Up Ghost River is at times painful. It's at other times a wonderful lesson in the importance of laughter. It's certainly deeply connected to the land. It is, in part, a tale of a world changing too quickly. But most of all, it is a heart song, a love song to a very special people and place, to a geography and a culture that are a foundation of who we are as a nation." --Joseph Boyden, from his foreword to Up Ghost River "Edmund Metatawabin's voice is clear, brave and full of the grace of his Cree homeland. Up Ghost River is a powerful and unsettling read, full of heartbreaking truth-telling, resistance and Metatawabin's uncompromising love of land, his people, his language and his culture. These stories are full of the real lived violence of colonialism and of the beautiful tiny moments that our Elders and storytellers wrap around our children to teach them, protect them and nurture them. Metatawabin is a gift to all who are lucky enough to read him, and the key to reading Metatawabin is a willingness to simply allow these stories to transform you." --Leanne Betasamosake Simpson, author of Dancing on Our Turtle's Back and Islands of Decolonial Love, and recipient of the RBC Taylor Emerging Writer Award "A shocking, sadly revealing Canadian story. Cree elder Edmund Metatawabin has the courage to tell how "white learning" stripped him of his name and systematically brutalized him--including strapping him into a school-built electric chair and electrocuting him--traumatizing him throughout his childhood, youth and adulthood, until he could finally let it all "pass through" him and find himself as a human being. "We are still here," he asserts, and...
